AYIA NAPA

kirill_makarov / Shutterstock.com

The name Ayia Napa is derived from a Venetian-era monastery of the same name, located in the centre of the town, next to the square that acts today as a nightlife hub. The word "Ayia" (Agia) means "holy" in Greek. "Napa" is archaic and means "wooded valley" or dell, since in ancient times the area surrounding the town was covered with thick forest.

Geographically, Ayia Napa lies near Cape Greco on the eastern part of Cyprus, just south of Famagusta, and forms part of a larger area known as Kokkinochoria ("Red Villages", a name derived from the red colour of the soil). Ayia Napa is about 8 kilometres (5 mi) from Protaras, a town that has recently seen similar development, but still manages to remain low-key and remains more favourable for families and local Cypriot.

PROTARAS-PARALIMNI

Marcin Krzyzak / Shutterstock.com

Protaras-Paralimni is situated on the southeastern fringe of Cyprus and has the privilege of seeing the first sunrise in Europe. Paralimni, the main town, combines the advantages of a traditional village with the conveniences of a contemporary town, and there is an air of timelessness in the Town Center.

Protaras, the tourist area, extends along the eastern coast of Paralimni and stretches for 10km from the district of 'Kapparis' to the location of 'Konnos'. Hundreds of windmills grant its landscape a quaint, tranquil beauty. Fantastic beaches with crystal clear waters are found along this coast, most of them accredited with the prestigious Blue Flag status.

The lengthy seaside promenade is perfect for a sunset stroll or a leisurely bicycle ride, offering visitors the opportunity to explore the area further. Visit the harbors of Agia Triada and the picturesque Agios Nicolaos. Follow a nature trail or one of the cycling paths and enjoy seamless views of the sea. Along them you'll discover rare species of flora and fauna and you'll be greeted by little chapels, such as Agioi Saranta, which is set in a mountain cave, or Agios Ioannis, a little chapel hidden in a valley. The ascent of the 153-steps leading to the chapel of Profitis Elias will definitely reward you with breathtaking views of Protaras.

Hotels, self-catering apartments, a wide range of restaurants, taverns, pubs and clubs are here to cater to the needs of even the most demanding tourist. Therefore, whether you choose to simply soak up the sun, explore the underwater world, wander the quaint streets of Paralimni, visit Byzantine churches or enjoy yourself in a club, once you are in Protaras-Paralimni a world of choices awaits you!

Fig Tree Bay

Fig Tree Bay is the most precious gem on this coastal tiara and is named after the solitary fig tree that was planted here by eastern invaders in the 17th century. On the headland of the bay one can see the recently revealed, glass-covered Hellenistic tombs. A selection of watersports abounds at these beaches, ranging from skiing and paragliding to snorkeling and scuba diving, and boats wait on the piers to take you on unforgettable trips. The bay also has excellent facilities, with sun beds and parasols available for hire. It provides disabled access and is serviced by a lifeguard.

The Agios Georgios Churches

The town square of Paralimni is dominated by the metropolitan, three-aisled church, dedicated to St George, the patron saint of the town. The church was finished in 1966 in a town. The church was finished in 1966 in a traditional Byzantine style and is full of contemporary frescoes. The impressive fresco which decorates the dome depicts the “All Powerful” surrounded by the Archangels, the Prophets and numerous saints.

The gothic church of St. George is located next to the metropolitan church in the main square of Paralimni. According to a marble inscription, it was erected in 1859 in the place of an older byzantine church, parts of which have been incorporated in this one. Part of its northern wall is covered with a large fresco depicting St. George killing a dragon.

Agios Nicolaos Fishing Harbour

The small scenic harbor of Agios Nicolaos is located in the resort of Pernera and is overlooked by the chapel of Agios Nicolaos, which adds some island colour to the place. Visitors can rest and have a coffee while enjoying fine views of the sea and the harbour and watching the boats come and go. At sunset the whole scenery is even more breathtaking.

Agios Nicolaos Chapel

In an attempt to honor their protector Saint, everyone involved in marine professions in Paralimni decided to build a chapel dedicated to him. The perfect place was found next to the sea overlooking the harbor where they tie their boats. Small in size, whitewashed with blue painted dome, the chapel of Agios Nicolaos, reminds one of the chapels found on Aegean islands.

Profitis Elias Chapel

The Byzantine Church of Prophet Elias was built in 1984, in the place of an older chapel. Set on a 100m high granite hill and found just a short distance from the heart of Protaras, it certainly cannot be missed. It was built using stones from the area, and it is in perfect harmony with its natural surroundings. The chapel is especially awe-inspiring in the evenings when it is floodlit.

Agioi Saranta Chapel

Taking the loose surface road to the area of Agioi Saranta or one of the nature trails, one comes across the picturesque chapel of Agioi Saranta.

Its existence is betrayed by the stone-built canopy on the wild rocks, as the chapel is set in an intact cave. The forty stalactites of the cave are what encouraged a devout christian to turn it into a place of pilgrimage. Apart from the pilgrimage, visitors can enjoy the wonderful scenery that surrounds the chapel.

Agia Anna Church

This 13th century Byzantine chapel in the center of Paralimni, built using local limestone, is dedicated to Mother Mary but it is referred to as 'Agia Anna', a name that was given to it when it was restored. The original chapel was decorated with frescoes, which were tragically destroyed and only some remnants betray their previous existence. The chapel now serves as an ecclesiastical museum where icons of the 16th and 19th centuries, holy relics and old books are exhibited.

Kapparis Beach

Kapparis beach (a recipient of the Blue Flag accreditation) is found north of Protaras, in the homonymous district of Kapparis. It is also known as the beach of MMAD, named after the training center of the Police Rapid Response Unit (MMAD), located nearby. It is a small, fine golden sandy beach with clear waters and is very popular with locals and tourists happy to give the hectic beaches a miss. There are sun loungers and parasols available for hire, and the area is patrolled by a lifeguard.

Paralimni Lake

Paralimni is situated next to a seasonal lake which forms west of the community, between Paralimni and Sotira. This is actually a natural hollow which collects rainwater from all parts of Paralimni and the neighbouring hills during the winter season. The lake has been part of the NATURA 2000 network since 2009, as it forms the natural habitat of an abundant and important population of the protected grass snake, Natrix Natrix Cyprica, and as a large number of migrating and nesting birds find shelter here.

Windmills

The windmills made their first appearance in Paralimni in the beginning of the twentieth century and were used by farmers to pump water up for the irrigation of their fields. Soon they multiplied in number, and as a result, Protaras, its most productive area, is often referred to as the land of windmills. The windmills were later replaced by mechanical pumps. Today, the large number of windmills testifies the productivity of the past while affording a quaint, nostalgic beauty to the landscape of the area.

Traditional Taverns

No stay in Protaras-Paralimni would be complete without a visit to a traditional tavern. In the taverns of Protaras and the main town of Paralimni you can enjoy authentic, traditional Cypriot cooking. The local cuisine is rich and has a huge diversity of dishes. Most of the chefs use locally grown ingredients, a multitude of herbs and vegetables and recipes that have been passed on from generation to generation, always adding new touches. “Meze”, the national speciality, is in essence a culinary cross section, consisting of a variety of dishes. It starts with dips and salads followed by grills, side dishes and desserts. Koupepia are vine leaves stuffed with minced meat and rice, and Tava is tasty stew of meat, herbs and onions. Enjoy your meals while sampling an excellent selection of local wines. So “Kopiaste”, relax and discover the flavours of Protaras.

Coastal Promenade

The seaside promenade extends for more than 4 kilometers, joining the area of Perneria with Fig Tree Bay, as well as Ayios Nicolaos Harbor with Louma Beach. It allows the visitor further to explore the area and at the same time come across a wealth of attractive beaches.

This lengthy promenade is perfect for a sunset stroll or jogging while enjoying stunning views across the Mediterranean.

All along the coastal promenade there are platforms that extend from the main path towards the sea. Some of these resting points look as if they hang over the sea. These stops are also marked by benches and people make frequent stops to rest, enjoy the view, the sunset or sunrise or read a book.

Protaras Nightlife

When the sun sets, Protaras offers a varied and vibrant nightlife. Beside the in-house entertainment provided by the large hotels, there are plenty of restaurants, pubs, disco/bars and clubs that contribute to the fun-loving atmosphere of Protaras. Many establishments offer live entertainment and Karaoke and the discos feature famous DJ's.

Archangelos Gabriel Church

Among green orchards at the foothill of Phanos, which is the highest hill in Paralimni, visitors can find the chapel of Archangelos Gabriel. In 1965, during the building of the chapel, a stone cross sculpture was found in the area, proof that in the past there was a church here. This cross was incorporated in the new chapel. In 1998 the chapel was restored and its walls were decorated with frescoes.

The Traditional Cypriot House

The Traditional Cypriot House is located in the old center of Paralimni. It was built in the 19th century and has been carefully renovated to maintain its distinctive character. Its traditional arches together with the local flowers planted in its fore-yard make the house particularly beautiful. Household utensils and farming tools used by a typical rural family of the region are on display in the three rooms as well as in the courtyard. Besides serving as a museum, the house is at the disposal of couples wishing to have a traditional backdrop for their wedding.

Agios Panteleimonas Chapel

The chapel of Agios Panteleimonas was built on top of two previous chapels that were destroyed. The present chapel is made of stone and has a wooden roof. Inside there are some particularly beautiful, contemporary frescoes, one of which depicts Mother Mary surrounded by other female Saints.

Agia Triada Chapel and Fishing Shelter

The bonny little fishing shelter of Agia Triada is found in the homonymous area of Agia Triada. The chapel dedicated to the Holy Trinity (Agia Triada) stands close by.

BEACH LIFE

Ditty_about_summer / Shutterstock.com

Discover numerous golden beaches with crystal clear waters, each of them awarded a Blue Flag, and indulge in the warmth of the sun. Enjoy swimming, water sports and a cruise around the coast of Ayia Napa. Explore the wild natural beauty of Cape Greco, and do some biking or hiking on nature trails with wildflowers and fauna.

For more information on the many beaches in the area, visit:

<http://www.visitfamagusta.com.cy/discover-cypruss/beaches/ayia-napa.html>

Limanaki Beach

The golden sand of Limanaki Beach gently slopes into the sea - you have to wade in a fair bit just to get knee deep, making it safe and perfect for children. There are large luxurious hotels along this coastline, with open air restaurants and snack bars, and it is the most accessible beach from the centre of town. People of all ages come here to enjoy themselves. Enjoy the sun and the sea in a refreshing and laid back way.

Nissi Beach

Nissi beach is probably the most popular beach in the whole of Cyprus. It consists of 2 connecting beaches, one large one (very busy) and a smaller one (more secluded). Nissi beach is famed for its beautiful golden sand and clean crystal clear waters. Enjoy your drinks in one of the sand bars there.

Makronissos Beach

Makronissos Beach, which has a water park nearby, is a long golden sand coastline flanked by two bays - an ideal atmosphere for relaxation. Children especially enjoy this beach due to its shallow waters which reach far into the sea. It is easily accessible via Nissi Avenue including a bus stop.

Konnos Beach

Located to the East of Ayia Napa, Konnos bay stands out from within the Cape Greco National Park. Found in between Protaras and Ayia Napa, the beach is prominent for its white sands and crystal clear water. Flanked by rocky hills full of pine trees, the road to the beach offers excellent opportunities for amazing photographs. Special plastic sun beds, tailor-made for this beach and which can be used on water, are available for rent. Many yachters drop anchor here to relax for hours.

Dome Beach

Laying on the western tip of Ayia Napa, Dome Beach is popular for families with children. In the winter months various types of surfers come here when conditions are right.

Kermia Beach

Kermia is a humble sized bay (also called Limnara Beach), also found in Cape Greco National Park. You can go there via the road or walk there on the coastal path from Ayia Napa (a few kilometers away) to Cape Greco. You will also see rock pools found at the edges of the bay.

Grecian Bay

Grecian Bay is the main beach in Ayia Napa and the closest to the city centre. Known by several names, including Glyki Nero (the official name which when translated means 'sweet water'), it is a long coastal line consisting of lovely fine white sand. It stretches west from the Ayia Napa sea caves to the harbor. Like some other beaches in Cyprus the clear waters run shallow far in to the sea - always exciting and fun for children! It has many luxury hotels lined up on it. Open air snack bars and other facilities for food and drink are waiting there to quench your thirst or fill your appetite after a relaxing swim.

Katsarka Beach

Situated about 1,500 feet from Ayia Napa fishing harbor, Katsarka Beach is rocky with fine gravel spread throughout. These rocks continue from the land in to the sea.

Latchi Beach

Latchi Beach is a small and quiet cove with golden sands which are a common trait with the beaches in Ayia Napa.

Landa Beach

Landa Beach is a long sandy beach in between Nissi and Macronissos beaches. It is sometimes referred to as Golden beach or Lanta beach by locals. The beach is well protected and quite deep so there is plenty of room, but no natural shade. Sand dunes bank up the slope to the east and rock pools are found on both sides of the beach (Landa translates roughly as 'water pool').

DO & SEE

Oleg_P / Shutterstock.com

There is a wealth of attractions and places to visit, both beautiful and interesting. Be sure to visit the Monastery and the Old and New Church dedicated to Virgin Mary, the picturesque harbor, the Municipal Museum "Thalassa", the Makronissos Archaeological Tombs, the Venetian Aqueduct, and the rural churches and chapels all around town, as well as the Sculpture Park, the Love Bridge, and the iconic "I Love Ayia Napa" sculpture in the Central Square.

Cape Greco National Forest Park

Explore the multitude of intriguing nature trails lined with pine trees and a diverse botanical splendour whilst pausing to take in the spectacular views from the sea cliffs looking down to the beautiful Mediterranean Sea. Many benches are spread out along these trails to take a break from the walk and admire the surroundings in stillness. One of these nature trails forms part of the European Long Distance Trail E4, running from Cyprus to Gibraltar. Then there's the Aphrodite nature trail which stretches 2 km along the North-East coast of Cape Greko which doubles up as a Cultural Route due to the mythical birth place of Aphrodite. A lovely monument to visit is the tiny white washed church of Agoi Anargyroi, with steps that lead down to the sea where there is a place where Holy water runs. Another trail leads to the 'Cyclops' cave where there is a picnic site close by.

Specially made cycling paths are strewn throughout. Cyprus has the ideal climate for cycling all year round with low annual rainfall and light winds. Thirty foot high limestone cliffs have caves which have been hewn by Mother Nature. Taking a boat trip along the coast you will see that they are really striking, which is why they have been aptly named the 'Palaces'. Cape Greko has warm sea temperatures ranging from 16 to 28 degrees and visibility reaching up to 40 metres. For this reason, as well as for the wonderful scenery and the marine life, this area is very popular with divers.

Thalassa Ayia Napa Municipal Museum

This museum has the sea as its subject-matter. The exhibits cover a chronological span, from pale ontological and prehistoric periods until present times, and include among other things an exact life size replica of the ancient ship of Kyrenia of the Classical period (400 BC), the replica of a Mesolithic (9200 BC) papyrus vessel, a traditional Cypriot boat from 19th century, known as "Passara", Cypriot antiquities, bones and skulls of endemic pygmy hippopotamus and elephants of Cyprus (8000 years old), and fossilized exhibits such as sea-urchins and corals. Moreover, visitors can admire stuffed fish, mammals, sea turtles and marine organisms, such as shells, barnacles, corals, sea-urchins, starfish, crabs, lobsters, sponges, marine plants and more found in various parts of the island.

Ayia Napa Monastery

A landmark in the heart of Ayia Napa, the Monastery is the most important sight in town. It is easily accessible by all visitors, as it is located in the central square, about two kilometers away from the Harbour. Among some of the well known visitors of the monastery was the Greek Nobel laureate Giorgos Seferis, who was astounded by the beauty he faced when he visited the place. He decided to dedicate a hymn to the Monastery, and thus wrote the poem "Ayia Napa B" which can be found in his collection of poems "Emerologio Katastromatos C" (Logbook III).

There is an uncertainty as to when the Monastery was initially built. The cave, the hiding place and the well, witness the presence of a Christian community there since the Byzantine years (11th century). The first element of the temple (13th-14th century) was built during the Frankish period, while the rest of the Monastery was completed during the 15th century. However, the Monastery as it stands nowadays is a construction of the 15th century, a time during which Cyprus was under the Venetian regime.

Ayia Napa Harbour

The picturesque Ayia Napa Harbour is undoubtedly one of the main features of the town, after the Medieval Monastery and Cape

Greco. Many decades ago, the harbour was just a small bay with a few fishing boats. In the beginning of the 70s, the first breakwater was constructed which basically marked the beginning of the current development of the harbour. Nowadays, the Harbour is fully renovated with a large fleet of fishing boats, speed boats, sailboats and cruise ships. The land area is appropriately formed with pedestrian lanes which lead to the two lighthouses. Colourful and typically picturesque, the area around the harbour includes an open theatre, fountains, quaint cafes, fish taverns and restaurants. The ambiance around the harbour is a real ornament and it is rightfully classified among the most contemporary and picturesque harbours in Cyprus.

The Ayia Napa Aqueduct

The Ayia Napa Aqueduct is one of the most important monuments preserved within the boundaries of the Ayia Napa municipality. The Aqueduct supplied the monastery and the whole region with water for hundreds of years. The monument in its present state of preservation is an alteration of the original Roman aqueduct, occurred during the Frankish period when the monastery was built. The source of the water is to be found somewhere on the Northeastern hills of Ayia Napa. Up to the year 1974 the original visible route of the channel was marked by a barrel-shaped structure at the locality of 'Manatou Nerou', known traditionally as the House of the Greeks. From that point the aqueduct ran all the way to the monastery following the natural contours of the bedrock.

Makronissos Tombs

The Makronissos cemetery includes 19 Hellenistic and Roman tombs (2400 BC). The entrances were originally closed with one large or two smaller calcarenite slabs. Among the findings at the sight are clay sarcophagi which were originally covered with three flat tiles and a limestone Korre statuette (both displayed in the Thalassa Municipal Museum).

Sea Caves

The Sea Caves or “Palatia”, as they are called, are certainly one of the main features of Ayia Napa and the centre of attraction for thousands of locals and tourists.

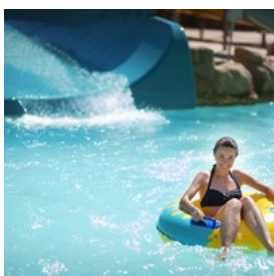

The Sea Caves, which are found between Kermia Beach and the Cavo Greco Cape, have a tremendous geological history and are of social, environmental and economic importance to Ayia Napa.

A visit to the sea caves is a must for an enjoyable walk and a close view of the captivating scenery, designed by nature and time, and a dive into the crystal waters of the sea is a treat.

The geology of the sea caves is one of the determinant factors of Cavo Greco, which has been declared a protected area.

Ayia Napa Water Park

The award-winning Ayia Napa Waterpark is one of the twelve best water parks worldwide, according to reliable sources of the American Television Network CNN. It is located on Ayia Theklis Street, on the west entrance of Ayia Napa.

The Waterpark is an ancient Greek mythology themed park. What makes it special is the fact that the Greek characters of the water park are depicted in a simplistic yet realistic way throughout the water slides and the recreation areas of the park, including the plethora of games found in all entertainment venues, such as the Fish Spa and the Go Karts.

The water park offers all-day entertainment and it is ideal if you want to spend a pleasant and carefree day in a world of mythology.

Ayioi Anargyroi Chapel

The chapel is found on the Eastern side of the town and is devoted to Ayios Kosmas and Ayios Damianos, or the Omosianoi Saints as they called them, both doctors who treated and cured patients without receiving any payment.

According to tradition, during their journeys in the area, they faced rough seas and their boat was carried away into a cave which has since been turned into a chapel. At a later stage, the new chapel was built on the rock right above the cave.

The Saints’ blessed water “Ayiasma” is found in the cave under the rock. Church services are held on the 1st of July and the 1st of November.

DINING

olcha / Shutterstock.com

The delicious Cypriot cuisine lies at the heart of the island's culture. The Cypriot ‘meze’ is a banquet fit for a king with about twenty different traditional dishes. Meze is often the dish of choice for local Cypriots, ordering them for feasts, celebrations, anniversaries and other joyous occasions. It starts light with salads, dips, olives and fresh bread. Then you start to work your way up with snails, octopus in red wine, pickled capers and greens, followed by grilled halloumi (Greek cheese made from sheep and goat's milk), smoked pork, fish, keftedes (meatballs), sheftalia and traditional Greek sausages. Then come the kebabs, chicken and lamb chops.

Blueberries

Blueberries Restaurant & Bar has been providing top-quality food and service since 1985, owned and run by two Englishmen with backgrounds firmly ingrained in family restaurants, and whose magnetic personalities draw lively crowds to their establishment. Their extensive international menu includes fish, steak, chicken and vegetarian dishes, but the house specialties are made up of typical Cypriot cuisine.

CAFES

Sopotnicki / Shutterstock.com

Cyprus coffee is served literally everywhere on the island. Such is its popularity- a perfect accompaniment for playing games or just shooting the breeze. Cyprus coffee is very different from European coffee, in that it is brewed in small pots with long handles called 'mbriki'. The coffee itself is made from fresh finely ground coffee beans and is poured into tinted porcelain cups. The amount of sugar added depends on your taste: 'sketo' (no sugar), 'metrio' (half a teaspoon of sugar), and 'glykis' (a full teaspoon of sugar).

Liquid Cafe & Bar

Just across the street from Quatro lies Liquid, a chilled out cafe by day, and a trendy bar by night. The bar is all atmosphere: it is spacious, modern and sleek, with large screens that show all the big games and all kinds of exotic cocktails.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

oneinchpunch / Shutterstock.com

Cyprus wines date back to the days of ancient Greece, as it was a major part of the island's wealth. In medieval times the renowned Commandaria wines were drunk by those passing through to the Holy Land. New wineries have developed over the past decades, and you can now sample the local wines at various locations and sites throughout the island. For nighttime entertainment, a slew of bars, nightclubs and restaurants can be found in town, along the beaches and at major hotels.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Galyna Andrushko / Shutterstock.com

Larnaca International Airport

Larnaca International Airport (LCA) is the nearest airport to Ayia Napa, located about 45 kilometres to the west of the city. It takes about 45-60 minutes to get to the city from the airport depending on your method of transportation and other factors like traffic.

Most major hotels and resorts provide shuttle services, making it the most common and simple way to get to Ayia Napa. There are also usually plenty of taxis available outside the terminal, as well as several car rental companies.

It is possible to get to Ayia Napa using public transport, and it is quite inexpensive, but there is no direct connection, and the trip can take significantly longer (up to about 90 minutes). Take any bus from the airport to Larnaca city centre and change to bus 711 of the intercity bus to Ayia Napa at Finikoudes Promenade. Tickets can be bought directly from the driver on both buses.

Public Transport

Local buses are run by Eman, running along the length of the coast all day, from about 8am to 11pm. Services usually run every 20-30 minutes, depending on the time of day.

Buses 101 and 102 run all the way from the Water Park to Paralimni, with stops along Nissi Avenue, while bus 502 goes straight to Paralimni. Bus 201 is the Ayia Napa circle line.

Single tickets and day passes are available, as well as weekly and monthly passes.
