

MOSCOW

Photo: Yulia Terekhina/Shutterstock.com

oluuuka/Shutterstock.com

Moscow is a city of contrasts, where the bohemian and the glamorous merge in an idiosyncratic fusion - do not be surprised to find a golden-domed 16th century church next to an ultra-modern glass skyscraper or a Soviet block house. Here, salty fish eggs (caviar) are washed down with bubbly champagne and worn-out commuters travel by the elaborately decorated, elegant metro, one of the city's main attractions.

dimbar76/Shutterstock.com

Zayne C/Shutterstock.com

QUIZ

*What Type of Traveller
Are You Based on Your Travel IQ?*

TAKE THE QUIZ

Top 5

Children are the Victims o...

The monument, designed by Mihail Chemiakin, shows 2 children at play, surrou...

Peter the Great Statue

Built in memory of the emperor Peter I, who reigned the nation for 43 years,...

Novodevichy Convent and Mo...

Several religious buildings surrounded by a wall make up the monastery, set ...

Church of Ascension Kolome...

The church was built to mark the birth of prince Ivan VI, who was later to b...

Wooden Palace of Tsar Alex...

Today's Wooden Palace of Tsar Alexei Mikhailovich is a complete reconstructi...

THE CITY

Delpixel/Shutterstock.com

The Kremlin has long served as headquarters for Moscow's many rulers – Ivan the Terrible and Stalin once issued their orders from here and today, the Kremlin's walls protect some of the country's most precious treasures.

Outside the Kremlin microcosm lies Russia in constant flux. Since Gorbachov introduced perestroika (restructuring) in 1985, the Communists have given way to a new generation of business-minded men and women, hungry for progress. However, old traditions are being honoured and kept alive – excellent performative arts (ballet, opera, and instrumental music), beautifully restored Orthodox churches, Soviet architectural and cultural heritage, and the national cuisine are only a few of the things modern Moscow has to offer.

DO & SEE

Yulia Mayorova/Shutterstock.com

Moscow might be one of the world's most exciting cities, an embodiment of the intricate fusion of the old and the new. You will definitely be able to fill your time here with history, art, culture, and great food. Visit the many churches and cathedrals, enjoy a show at the Bolshoi Theatre, or go for a walk in one of the city's many parks – Moscow certainly has many ways to enchant you.

Children are the Victims of Adult Vices Sculptures

The monument, designed by Mihail Chemiakin, shows 2 children at play, surrounded by 13 menacing-looking figures, each representing a vice or evil the youth is often faced with growing up. Can you interpret the meaning of each sculpture? You can find the monument south of the Moscow Kremlin, in Bolotnaya Square.

Photo: Stoyanov Alexey/Shutterstock.com

Address: Bolotnaya Square

Peter the Great Statue

Built in memory of the emperor Peter I, who reigned the nation for 43 years, the monument faces the Moskva River and is the 8th highest statue in the world, standing at 98 meters (322ft) tall. Besides the statue, you can also enjoy a beautiful view over the river around the area, as well as spot some boat traffic.

Photo: Tatiana Popova/Shutterstock.com
Address: 10 Krymskaya Naberezhnaya, Moscow

Novodevichy Convent and Monastery

Several religious buildings surrounded by a wall make up the monastery, set amid a park on the Moskva River bank. To grasp the importance of the place throughout the course of Russian history, visit the Novodevichy Cemetery, where many prominent Russians found their final resting place, from literary behemoths (Chekhov and Gogol) to politicians (Boris Yeltsin). The monastery has remained near-intact since the 17th century.

Photo: Boris Stroujko/Shutterstock.com
Address: Novodevichy Passage, Moscow
Opening hours: Museum: Daily 9:00am - 5:00pm.

Church of Ascension Kolomenskoye

The church was built to mark the birth of prince Ivan VI, who was later to become Ivan 'the Terrible' -- it was the first of its architectural kind in

Russia. The structure faces the Moskva River and is marvellous in its unique architectural design. Kolomenskoye Park stretches along the Moskva River and is a favourite among locals for day trips, too.

Photo: ansharphoto/Shutterstock.com
Address: Andropova Avenue 39, Moscow

Wooden Palace of Tsar Alexei Mikhailovich

Today's Wooden Palace of Tsar Alexei Mikhailovich is a complete reconstruction, since the building's original was, sadly, demolished on command of Catherine the Great in the 18th century. The museum inside showcases the lively embellishments and ornate furniture that was replicated through paintings dating back to the time.

Photo: Gubin Yury/Shutterstock.com
Address: Kolomenskoye Park, Moscow
Opening hours: Tuesday - Sunday 10:00 - 18:00.
More Info: Mondays closed.

The Pushkin Museum of Fine Art

The Pushkin Museum of Fine Art is a paradise for those interested in art. Here Impressionist and Post-Impressionist art mingles with older works by Rembrandt and Botticelli.

Photo: Gubin Yury/Shutterstock.com
Address: 12 Ulitsa Volchonka, Moscow
Opening hours: Open daily 10 am-7 pm, ticket office 10 am-6 pm. Closed on Mondays
Phone: +7 495 609 95 20 / +7 495 697 95 78
Internet: www.arts-museum.ru

The Tretyakov Gallery

With its 62 halls and 100,000 paintings, the Tretyakov Gallery contains the world's largest collection of Russian art. Fortunately, all of these pieces are not all displayed together, but a few at a time.

Photo: Grisha Bruev/Shutterstock.com
Address: 10 Lavrushinsky Pereulok, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 953 10 51
Internet: www.tretyakovgallery.ru
Email: tretyakov@tretyakov.ru

Armoury Chamber in The Kremlin

If you yearn for gold, velvet and precious stones, you must visit the Armoury. The treasures that have been collected over the centuries by the Russian tsars and princes can be found here. Some magnificent examples are the Fabergé egg and Catherine the Great's coronation dress.

Photo: Anton_Ivanov/Shutterstock.com
Address: The Kremlin, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 621 46 31
Internet: www.kreml.ru
More Info: Use entrance from the Alexander Garden

Red Square and the Lenin Mausoleum

Enclosed by the GUM, Kremlin, and Saint Basil's Cathedral, the Red Square stands proud. This is also the place where Lenin rests in his mausoleum. Since 1924 he has been as carefully guarded as he was embalmed.

Photo: Baturina Yuliya/Shutterstock.com
Address: Krasnaya Ploshad, Moscow
Internet: www.lenin.ru

St. Basil's Cathedral

With its round, brilliantly coloured cupolas, St. Basil's Cathedral truly looks like a fairy-tale castle. Ivan the Terrible had it built around 1550 in order to celebrate a victory over the Tartars. Today the cathedral is one of the world's architectural wonders.

Photo: vvoe/Shutterstock.com
Address: 2 Krasnaya Ploshad, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 698 33 04
Internet: www.saintbasil.ru

Moscow Metro

Going on the metro in Moscow is an attraction in itself. The metro here is just beautiful with its architecture and majestic spaces. If you have to choose, two of the most beautiful stations to visit are "Komsomol'skaya" and "Kazan'skaya".

Photo: Gubin Yury/Shutterstock.com

Flacon Design Factory

One of several repurposed industrial spaces in Moscow, Flacon is among the best: once a glass factory, it has now been transformed into a collection of hip enterprises that range from cool stores (do not miss the "Respublika" book shop and its fun merch) to cafes, coworking spaces, and art installations. Check their event schedule to see what's on (mind that most events are conducted in Russian).

Photo: GaudiLab/Shutterstock.com

Address: Bol'shaya Novodmitrovskaya Ulitsa, 36, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 790 79 01

Internet: <https://flacon.ru>

Izmaylovo Market

One of the most famous places in Moscow for buying souvenirs is at the Izmaylovo Market. Here you can find all the typical Russian souvenirs like matryoshka dolls and fur hats. The market is quite big, so make sure to have enough time and money when coming here.

Photo: eFesenko/Shutterstock.com

Address: Izmaylovo Market, Moscow

Gorky Park

In the middle of Moscow you can find Gorky Park, named after the author Maxim Gorky. This park is located on the riverbank and is full of fun activities. Here you can find parkland, a sports centre, an open-air cinema and much more.

Photo: dimbar76/Shutterstock.com

Address: 9 Krymsky val, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 995 00 20

Internet: www.park-gorkogo.com

Email: info@park-gorkogo.com

Sparrow Hills

One of the best lookouts in Moscow is called Sparrow Hills. From here you will get magnificent views of the city, hence this is also a popular place for spending New Year's Eve and enjoying the fireworks. In the park you can wander among ponds and occasionally come here for a concert or event.

Photo: Alla Ushakova/Shutterstock.com

Address: Vorobyevy Gory, Moscow

Arbat Street

The popular Arbat Street is one of the oldest streets in Moscow. If you have not been to Arbat Street before, it is definitely worth a visit - it's closed off to traffic, allowing pedestrians to enjoy its many cafes and souvenir shops, as well as entertaining street artists and portrait painters.

Photo: Tatiana Popova/Shutterstock.com

Address: Ulitsa Arbat, Moscow

Memorial Museum of Cosmonautics

This unique museum can be found below the ravishing Space Monument. At The Memorial Museum of Cosmonautics there are several exhibitions with different space objects, documents, and art. If you are interested in space and the cosmonauts, you will most certainly not be disappointed.

Photo: Sloniki/Shutterstock.com
Address: 111 Prospekt Mira, Moscow
Opening hours: Open 11 am-7 pm. Closed on Mondays
Phone: +7 495 602 20 73 / +7 495 682 60 92
Internet: www.kosmo-museum.ru

Seven Sisters

The so-called "Seven Sisters" are seven skyscrapers built in Stalinist style. The skyscrapers are still among the tallest buildings in Europe and can be seen from multiple spots throughout the city. One of the Seven Sisters is the Moscow State University building, which can be found on Sparrow Hills.

Photo: Alexey Kljatov/Wikimedia Commons

Gulag History Museum

Founded in 2001, this museum is devoted to showing the rise and fall of the labor camp system in Russia called Gulag. Here you can find both permanent and temporary exhibitions as well as concerts and events.

Photo: Finlandi/Shutterstock.com
Address: 16 Petrovka, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 621 73 10
Internet: www.gmig.ru

Cathedral of Christ the Savior

This enormous, beautiful cathedral is located by the river and was designed by the architect Konstantin Ton. You can recognise the cathedral by its copper domes that dominate the skyline.

Photo: Delpixel/Shutterstock.com
Address: Volkhonka Ulitsa, Moscow
Internet: www.xxc.ru

Bolshoi Theatre

The stunning Bolshoi Theatre is one of Moscow's cultural landmarks. Here you can enjoy several ballets by world-renowned Russian ballet companies, operas and different performances in a grandiose interior.

Photo: Baturina Yuliya/Shutterstock.com
Address: Teatralnaya Ploshad, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 455 5555
Internet: www.bolshoi.ru
Email: sales@bolshoi.ru

Zaryadye Park

Right next to the famous Red Square sits Moscow's first urban park since half a century. Designed by American architects Diller Scofidio and Renfro and inaugurated in September 2017, this massive piece of land in the heart of the Russian capital is more than just a park, it is a breath of fresh air to the city's landscape and a new meeting place for locals and tourists alike. Take a walk around its 35-acre grounds and visit its multiple attractions including: two amphitheatres, a market, a restaurant, a world-class philharmonic concert hall, an ice cave, and a boomerang-shaped bridge floating over the Moscow River.

Photo: Mos.ru/WikimediaCommons (image cropped)
Address: Varvarka Street, Moscow
Public Transport: Metro stations nearby: Okhotny Ryad, Teatralnaya, Ploshchad Revolyutsii and Kitay-Gorod

Opening hours: Open 24 hours
Phone: +7 495 531 0500
Internet: www.zaryadyepark.ru/en
Email: parkzaryadye@culture.mos.ru

DINING

DarZe/Shutterstock.com

It is truly an adventure to go out for dinner in Moscow. The city teems with extravagant themed restaurants where one is transported through both time and space. You may suddenly find yourself in Thailand, on a farm or in a past century. If you want to have good food and spend less, you can go to some of the city's many Georgian and Armenian restaurants. There are also food chains such as Moo-Moo and Yolki-Palki, where you can serve yourself inexpensive, simple Russian fare. For most restaurants it is recommended to book a table in advance.

Restaurant Expedition

Restaurant "Expedition. Northern cuisine" serves delicacies of northern Russian cuisine of the highest quality. Each product "flies" or "comes" or "swims" here from distant ecologically clean lands and is cooked only on Baikal water! This restaurant is the place for those who appreciate high quality in everything! So don't be surprised if some famous singer is performing a song for his friends at a table next to yours... They are big family and every guest for them is a good friend!

Photo: Restaurant Expedition
Address: 6 Pevcheskiy Pereulok, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 775 60 75
Internet: www.expedicia.ru

Central Market (Центральный рынок)

Despite the name, Moscow's Central Market isn't really much of a market, but rather a collection of trendy restaurants and cafes serving dishes of world cuisines. Once you take your pick from its vast array of culinary offerings, stop by the wine shop (main entrance, first right) and pick up a bottle to your liking - you can even borrow a pair of wine glasses with your purchase.

On summer evenings, the outdoor terrace teems with people. It's one of the current places to be.

Photo: Lyubov Levitskaya/Shutterstock.com
Address: Rozhdestvensky Blvd 1, Moscow
Phone: +7 495 902 77 77
Internet: <http://moscowcentralmarket.ru>

Café Pushkin

Do not be fooled by "café" in its title: this is one of Moscow's finest restaurants. Go on a journey through time back to the sumptuous 19th century. Here, well-dressed Muscovites enjoy caviar and the Franco-Russian cuisine. Here you can also enjoy a grandiose breakfast buffet.

Photo: Yulia Mayorova/Shutterstock.com

Address: 26A Tverskoy Bulvar, Moscow

Opening hours: Open 12 am-12 am

Phone: +7 495 739 00 33

Internet: www.cafe-pushkin.ru

Danilovskiy Rynok Foodcourt

One of the hottest food courts in town, this one at Danilovskiy Market ('rynok') boasts several exceptional eateries at once. Try Shepka (Щепка) for high-quality smoked meats and fish (you'll want to bring some from the deli on your way out), Bô for as-authentic-as-it gets Vietnamese, Fiorella Pasta Fresca for fresh hand-made pasta, Georgian Street Food or Crabs Are Coming (with Alaskan king crab meat).

Afterwards, take a gander around the market itself, and perhaps pick up a few items from the many stalls and deli shops.

Photo: SeventyFour/Shutterstock.com

Address: Mytnaya Ulitsa, 74, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 120 18 01

Internet: <http://danrinok.ru>

Rybniy Bazar

In downtown Moscow, near Pushkinskaya / Tverskaya underground station, you can find the elegant Rybniy Bazar ("fish market"). This restaurant serves seafood, and the lobster and oysters are especially popular here.

Photo: Bignai/Shutterstock.com

Address: 10/2 Trehprudniy Pereulok, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 650 5444

Internet: www.rbazar.ru

Lavkalavka Farmer's Restaurant

The commendable local initiative that is Lavkalavka tries to create a representation of what Russian cuisine could have been if it had continued to "evolve" uninterrupted by the events of the 20th century. The restaurant aims to support independent farmers and producers, and collaborates closely with many.

Photo: Alex Couto/Shutterstock.com

Address: 21-2 Ulitsa Petrovka, Moscow

Phone: +7 903 115 50 33

Internet: www.restoran.lavkalavka.com

Mu-Mu

Mu-Mu is an affordable self-service restaurant chain serving both light snacks and full meals. The interior is very cosy and the restaurant has become increasingly popular for its simple and tasty food. Multiple locations operate around the city.

Photo: vkuslandia/Shutterstock.com

Address: 45/24 Plotnikov Ct., Moscow

Phone: +7 985 178-88-82

Internet: www.cafemumu.ru

Email: fastland@cafemumu.ru

Noev Kovcheg (Noah's Ark)

Noev Kovcheg serves award-winning Armenian food. When here, be sure to taste the famous Armenian cognac. The prestigious restaurant opened its doors to the public on July 17th 1999, the same date that Noah's Ark settled on the mountain of Ararat.

Photo: minadezhda/Shutterstock.com

Address: 9 M.Ivanovsky Pereulok, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 917 07 17 / +7 495 628 29 29

Internet: www.noevkovcheg.ru

El Gaucho

Argentinean restaurants are always good choices if you feel like a big and tasty steak, this one is no exception. The meat is fantastic and cooked on charcoal. Of course, they also have an extensive wine list to go with the menu.

Photo: stockcreations/Shutterstock.com

Address: 6 Zacepinsky Val, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 953 28 76

Internet: www.elgaucho.ru

Khachapuri

At this city café you can enjoy some traditional Georgian food. Here you can choose between traditional grilled dishes, soups, kebabs and much more. It is recommended to leave lots of room in your stomach when coming here, because the portions are reportedly huge.

Photo: Lisovskaya Natalia/Shutterstock.com

Address: 7 Ukrainsky Boulevard, Moscow

Phone: +7 985 764 23 64

Internet: www.hacha.ru

Darbars

Darbars is a popular Indian restaurant and the perfect place for relaxing after a day's touring.

Photo: espies/Shutterstock.com

Address: Prospekt Mira, 12, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 930 2925

Mary Jane Bar

This cosy and friendly restaurant is located in the south of Moscow. Mary Jane Bar serves a wide range of European food. Here you can choose between salads, pastas, soups, meat and much more.

Photo: Sinichenko Maksim/Shutterstock.com

Address: 4B Novodanilovskaya naberezhnaya, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 796 20 32

Internet: www.maryjanebar.ru

Email: box@maryjanebar.ru

Chicago Grill & Bar

At the stylish Chicago Grill & Bar you can enjoy some really good dishes for both lunch and dinner. The mouthwatering steaks will most likely leave you more than satisfied.

Photo: stockcreations/Shutterstock.com

Address: 8A Strastnoy Blvd, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 988 17 17

Internet: www.chicagoprime.ru

Email: info@chicagoprime.ru

Delicatessen

Although not an easy to find, this restaurant is definitely worth the search. Delicatessen is located in a courtyard and serves traditional food and drinks in a unique atmosphere.

Photo: Andrey Bayda/Shutterstock.com

Address: 20 str.2 Ulitsa Sadovaya-Karetnaya, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 699 39 52

Internet: www.newdeli.ru

Email: cafe.delicatessen@gmail.com

CAFES

vubaz/Shutterstock.com

Moscow is a city teeming with cafes to suit all tastes and wallets. In the summer, city parks turn into visitor magnets with abundant outdoor cafes - the recently re-conceptualised and ever-evolving Gorky Park being one of the main summertime hot spots. Outside of parks, there are multiple cafes at nearly every corner, ranging from local and international coffee shop chains to quirky themed establishments.

Vogue Café

This venue is the result of a collaboration between Vogue and the well renowned Russian restaurateur Arkady Novikov. The chic and elegant interior draws the fashion-friendly and glamorous people in for exotic cocktails and decidedly authentic Russian cuisine.

Photo: santypan/Shutterstock.com

Address: Ulitsa Kuznetsky Most, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 623 17 01

Internet: www.novikovgroup.ru

Coffeemia

This Moscow-based coffee shop chain has several cafés in the city centre and two in the Domodedovo airport. The thing uniting these coffee shops is the passion for coffee in all its forms. You can try a large number of espresso-based beverages or some of their cakes, pastries and desserts.

Photo: Coffee Lover/Shutterstock.com

Address: 2 Trubnaya Ploshad, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 229 84 59

Internet: www.coffeemia.ru

Stolovaya 57

Stolovaya 57 is an affordable eatery that replicates Soviet-style canteens in both atmosphere and menu selection - food here is simple but filling, with dishes bearing little difference from those served decades ago. Located directly inside GUM shopping center in Red Square.

Photo: Elena M. Tarasova/Shutterstock.com

Address: Red Square, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 620 31 29

More Info: Inside GUM

Lyudi Kak Lyudi

One of the best cafes in Kitay-Gorod area of Moscow, Lyudi Kak Lyudi is very popular with locals - one would be lucky to secure a spot to be seated during peak hours. Serves sweet and savoury pies and pastries, as well as fresh fruit smoothies.

Photo: Africa Studio/Shutterstock.com

Address: 1/4 Solyanskiy Tupik, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 621 12 01

Internet: www.ludikakludi.com

Upside Down Cake Company

Upside Down Cake Company is a bakery inspired by the metropolis New York and has cool interior with white walls and granite table tops. The pastry menu is quite impressive, containing cupcakes, ciabatta sandwiches, coconut pie and a number of cakes, just to mention a few.

Photo: 5 second Studio/Shutterstock.com

Address: 76B Gruzinskaya Ulitsa, Moscow

Phone: +7 499 250 07 31

Internet: www.upsidedowncake.ru

Margarita Bistro

This nice café, named after Bulgakov's novel "The Master and Margarita," lies next to the Patriarch's pond. Come here in the evening, have a beer and listen to live violin and piano music.

Photo: Igor Normann/Shutterstock.com

Address: 28 Malaya Bronnaya Ulitsa, Moscow

Internet: www.cafe-margarita.ru

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Syda Productions/Shutterstock.com

The nightlife scene in Moscow is varied, and long-gone are the days when the only kind of venues in operation were luxury establishments guarded by stern-looking bouncers. Although some places still enforce FC/DC, many are now leaning towards a more casual approach to entry - the recent decade has seen a rise in number of casual bars modeled after hip urban haunts of west European capitals. Wine bars, craft breweries, bohemian cafes, indie bars, and glitzy nightclubs are all to be found in abundance, spread throughout the city's many neighbourhoods.

Strelka

A summertime staple, this bar belongs to its namesake Institute for Media, Architecture and Design and attracts a with-it crowd. Its open-air terrace buzzes with patrons sipping on cocktails all throughout the warm season. Weekends see parties with dancing, DJ sets and the occasional performing musicians.

Photo: FXQuadro/Shutterstock.com

Address: Bersenevskaya Naberezhnaya, 14/5, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 771 74 16

Internet: <http://strelka.com/ru/bar/?v=bar>

Kamchatka

A busy city-centre bar vibrating with energy that attracts a younger clientele. It gets increasingly rowdier as the night progresses. Drinks are very affordable, plus they serve a decent selection of snacks and pub grub.

Photo: SeventyFour/Shutterstock.com

Address: Ulitsa Kuznetskiy Most, 7, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 624 88 25

Internet: <http://kamchatka-rest.ru>

Propaganda

Propaganda is a real underground club classic. Here famous DJ's play before a good-looking crowd - with an age range of roughly 20-40 represented. The club is open every day (during the daylight hours it operates as a restaurant/cafe), and plays house music during the weekends.

Photo: Maksim Fesenko/Shutterstock.com

Address: 7 Bolshoy Zlatoustinskiy Pereulok, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 624 57 32

Internet: www.propagandamoscow.com

Jean-Jacques

An atmospheric wine bar that reportedly attracts Moscow's liberal intelligentsia, but is equally positively inclined towards anyone that chooses to stop by. There are several locations around Moscow (and beyond), all consistent in their Parisian brasserie-style interior decor, red coloured walls, and a menu of classic French dishes.

They only close for 2 hours every morning, between 6 and 8 am.

Photo: Song_about_summer/Shutterstock.com

Address: Nikitsky bul 12, Moscow

Phone: +7 968 665-51-10

Internet: <http://jeanjacques.com>

Chinese Pilot Jao Da

A longstanding nightlife venue holding a near-legendary status, the bar is named after a semi-fictional character (17 stories of his life and adventures adjourn the walls). Live music is often played here, and the crowd is known for being exceptionally welcoming.

Photo: Ollyy/Shutterstock.com

Address: 25/12 Lubyansky Proezd, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 924 56 11

Internet: www.jao-da.ru

16 Tonn

This popular English pub brews its own namesake beer in-house (the brew has even gotten several international awards).

The venue is also known for hosting some of the capital's best concerts - both local and international artists and bands.

Photo: melis/Shutterstock.com

Address: 6/1 Presnensky Val, Moscow

Phone: +7 499 253 53 00

Internet: www.16tons.ru

Night Flight

Night Flight is a well-known night club amongst the party people in Moscow. This sophisticated club is Swedish-managed and boasts a gourmet restaurant, a VIP lounge and a disco bar with a live DJ.

Photo: Patrizia Tilly/Shutterstock.com

Address: 17 Tverskaya Ulitsa, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 629 41 65

Internet: www.nightflight.ru

Belfast

Unlike some of Moscow's more refined evening establishments, the pub Belfast invites guests to kick back and relax, watching a live sports broadcast, enjoying traditional Irish pub grub or singing along to Irish folk songs.

Photo: BlueSkyImage/Shutterstock.com

Address: 1/13 Sredniy Ovchinnikovskiy Pereulok, Moskva

Phone: +7 495 953 05 56

Internet: www.belfast-pub.ru

More Info: Directions can be found on website

SHOPPING

risteski goce/Shutterstock.com

In order to satisfy the wishes of Moscow's well-off upper middle classes, many chic designer stores have opened their stores in Moscow. Today there is definitely a risk that tourists will return home with considerably more expensive souvenirs than fur hats and Russian "matryoshka" dolls, which are readily available throughout - a good place to start browsing for these is the souvenir market right next to the Red Square.

Popular Shopping Streets

Popular shopping streets are Noviy Arbat and the more exclusive Kuznetskiy, but the number one shopping street is Tverskaya ulitsa.

Stalin had the street restored in the 1930's, so here, too, there is evidence of his liking for massive, grey buildings.

Photo: VLADJ55/Shutterstock.com

GUM

Those who wish to start their shopping trip at one of the shopping centres with the finest old traditions in the world should head for GUM.

The building was designed in the new Russian style at the end of 19th century. During the Stalinist period, GUM was temporarily converted into offices. Today it accommodates a plethora of international luxury brands, and is more of a landmark than a go-to shopping location.

Photo: Nymph_i/Shutterstock.com

Address: 3 Krasnaya Ploshad, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 788 43 43

Internet: www.gum.ru

Eliseyevskiy Store

Eliseyevskiy store is the name of Moscow's most famous delicatessen shop (known during the Soviet period as Gastronomy no. 1). This is the place to buy your ration of vodka, caviar, and other local delicacies. Russians are avid tea drinkers and at Chudesa Podnebesnoi you can find the finest Chinese teas.

Photo: gkrphoto/Shutterstock.com

Address: 14 Tverskaya Ulitsa, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 650-46-43

Internet: www.eliseyevskiy.ru/e_home.htm

Perlov Tea House

This late 19th century building stands out dramatically against its surroundings. It was built to emulate ornate Chinese tea houses of the era, and remains in its near-original condition to-date. Inside, multiple varieties of tea are sold both by weight and by package. There is a little on-site cafe that sells sweets, teas and coffee.

Photo: Kemal Kozbaev/Wikimedia Commons (image cropped)

Address: Myasnitskaya 19, Moscow

Tsvetnoy

Perhaps the capital's trendiest shopping mall, attractive for both its wide array of international retail brands and a two-floor food court with quality eateries.

Photo: Alones/Shutterstock.com

Address: Tsvetnoy Blvd, 15 bld. 1, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 737 77 73

Internet: <https://tsvetnoy.com/>

Flacon Design Factory

One of several repurposed industrial spaces in Moscow, Flacon is among the best: once a glass factory, it has now been transformed into a collection of hip enterprises that range from cool stores (do not miss the "Respublika" book shop and its fun merch) to cafes, coworking spaces, and art installations.

Photo: GaudiLab/Shutterstock.com

Address: Bol'shaya Novodmitrovskaya Ulitsa, 36, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 790 79 01

Internet: <https://flacon.ru>

Izmaylovo Market

One of the most famous places in Moscow for buying souvenirs is at the Izmaylovo Market. Here you can find all the typical Russian souvenirs like matryoshka dolls and fur hats. The market is quite big, so make sure to have enough time and money when coming here.

Photo: eFesenko/Shutterstock.com

Address: Izmaylovo Market, Moscow

TOURIST INFORMATION

Vilena/Shutterstock.com

Vnukovo International Airport

The city's third and most compact airport, Vnukovo is located approximately 28 kilometres southwest of the city centre. The air hub is best reached by Aeroexpress trains departing from the Kievskaya Railway Station. Several mini-buses also run here from Yugo-Zapadnaya metro station (south end of the red line).

Photo: Juan Garces

Phone: +7 495 937-55-55

Internet: www.vnukovo.ru/en

Sheremetyevo International Airport

The largest international airport in Moscow is Sheremetyevo International Airport, located 30 kilometres from the city centre. The easiest and fastest way to reach any of Moscow's three major airports is by Aeroexpress - a fast train designated for air travelers (train departs from Belorussky Railway Station). The train ride takes 35 minutes.

Another way to get here is by taxi. At the airport you can order taxis at the operator desk. You can usually book a taxi in advance through the hotel or travel agency when going to the airport. Alternatively, there are different bus routes. The buses take about 30-70 minutes depending on the route and your final destination. When traveling by car or bus, do keep in mind that rush hour traffic may sometimes be very dense, and significant delays are possible.

Photo: Juan Garces

Address: Sheremetyevo International Airport, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 578 65 65

Internet: <https://www.svo.aero/en/main>

Domodedovo International Airport

Another large airport in Moscow is Moscow Domodedovo Airport. The airport is located 22 kilometres away from the city. You can also reach the airport from Domodedovskaya underground station by mini-bus or bus and from Paveletsky railway station by train. The train from Paveletsky railway station takes 40-50 minutes going on the Aeroexpress train, and 1 hour and 10 minutes on the commuter train. The express buses and shuttles from Domodedovskaya underground station take 25-30 minutes and leave every 15 minutes. Buses run from 6am-12am.

Taxis can be ordered at the domestic and international arrivals hall.

There are car rental services at the airport.

Photo: Juan Garcés

Address: Moscow Domodedovo Airport, Moscow

Phone: +7 495 933 6666

Internet: www.domodedovo.ru

Metro

Moscow has one of the world's most beautiful underground railways which operates very efficiently. If you carry big luggage on the metro, make sure you buy a special luggage ticket.

Tickets can be bought at station entrances - either at vending machines or special staffed kiosks. If you plan to use the metro multiple times during your stay, it makes sense to purchase a top-up card called "Troika".

Photo: ArrivalGuides

Phone: +7 495 688 02 93

Internet: www.mosmetro.ru

Public Transport

In Moscow there are also buses, trolley buses and trams apart from the beautiful metro. Tickets can be bought from the kiosks in the street or from the driver and validated once aboard.

Photo: Pierre-Luc Auclair

Phone: +7 495 950 4204

Internet: www.mosgortrans.ru

Taxi

In Moscow the easiest way to get a taxi is the traditional way: to stand in the street and hold out your arm. Civilian cars like to operate as taxis, it is therefore recommended to only use professional taxi services. Taxi meters are not always used, so agree on a price before travelling. English-speaking taxi services in Moscow:

Welcome Taxi

+7 499 922 06 74

www.welcometaxi.ru

LingoTaxi:

+7 495 204 21 34

Photo: ArrivalGuides

Post

There are many post offices around town. If you want to send a letter you can drop it of in one of the dark blue post boxes. Main Post Office:

Photo: Andy Fuchs

Address: Ul. Myasnitskaya 26, Moscow

Opening hours: Open 12 am-12 am

Phone: +7 495 623 67 01

Internet: <https://www.pochta.ru>

Pharmacy

Medical care may be very expensive if you do not have insurance. Hotels often have their own doctor, so start there if you need help. There are dozens of pharmacies all throughout the city, and many work 24/7.

Rigla 102
www.rigla.ru
15/43 Arbat, Moscow

Apteka 36,6
www.366.ru
25 str 1A Zemlyanoy val, Moscow

Photo: Gemma Garner

Telephone

National code: +7 Area code: 495/499

Photo: Jardson Almeida

Electricity

220 volt, 50 Hz

Photo: Stirling Tschan

Population
11,514,330

Currency

Russian rouble (RBL) 1 rouble = 100 kopeks

Opening hours

Most shops are open from 9/11am-7pm on weekdays. Banks are open from 10am-5pm. Some offices are closed an hour for lunch. Many museums are closed on Mondays and Tuesdays.

Newspapers

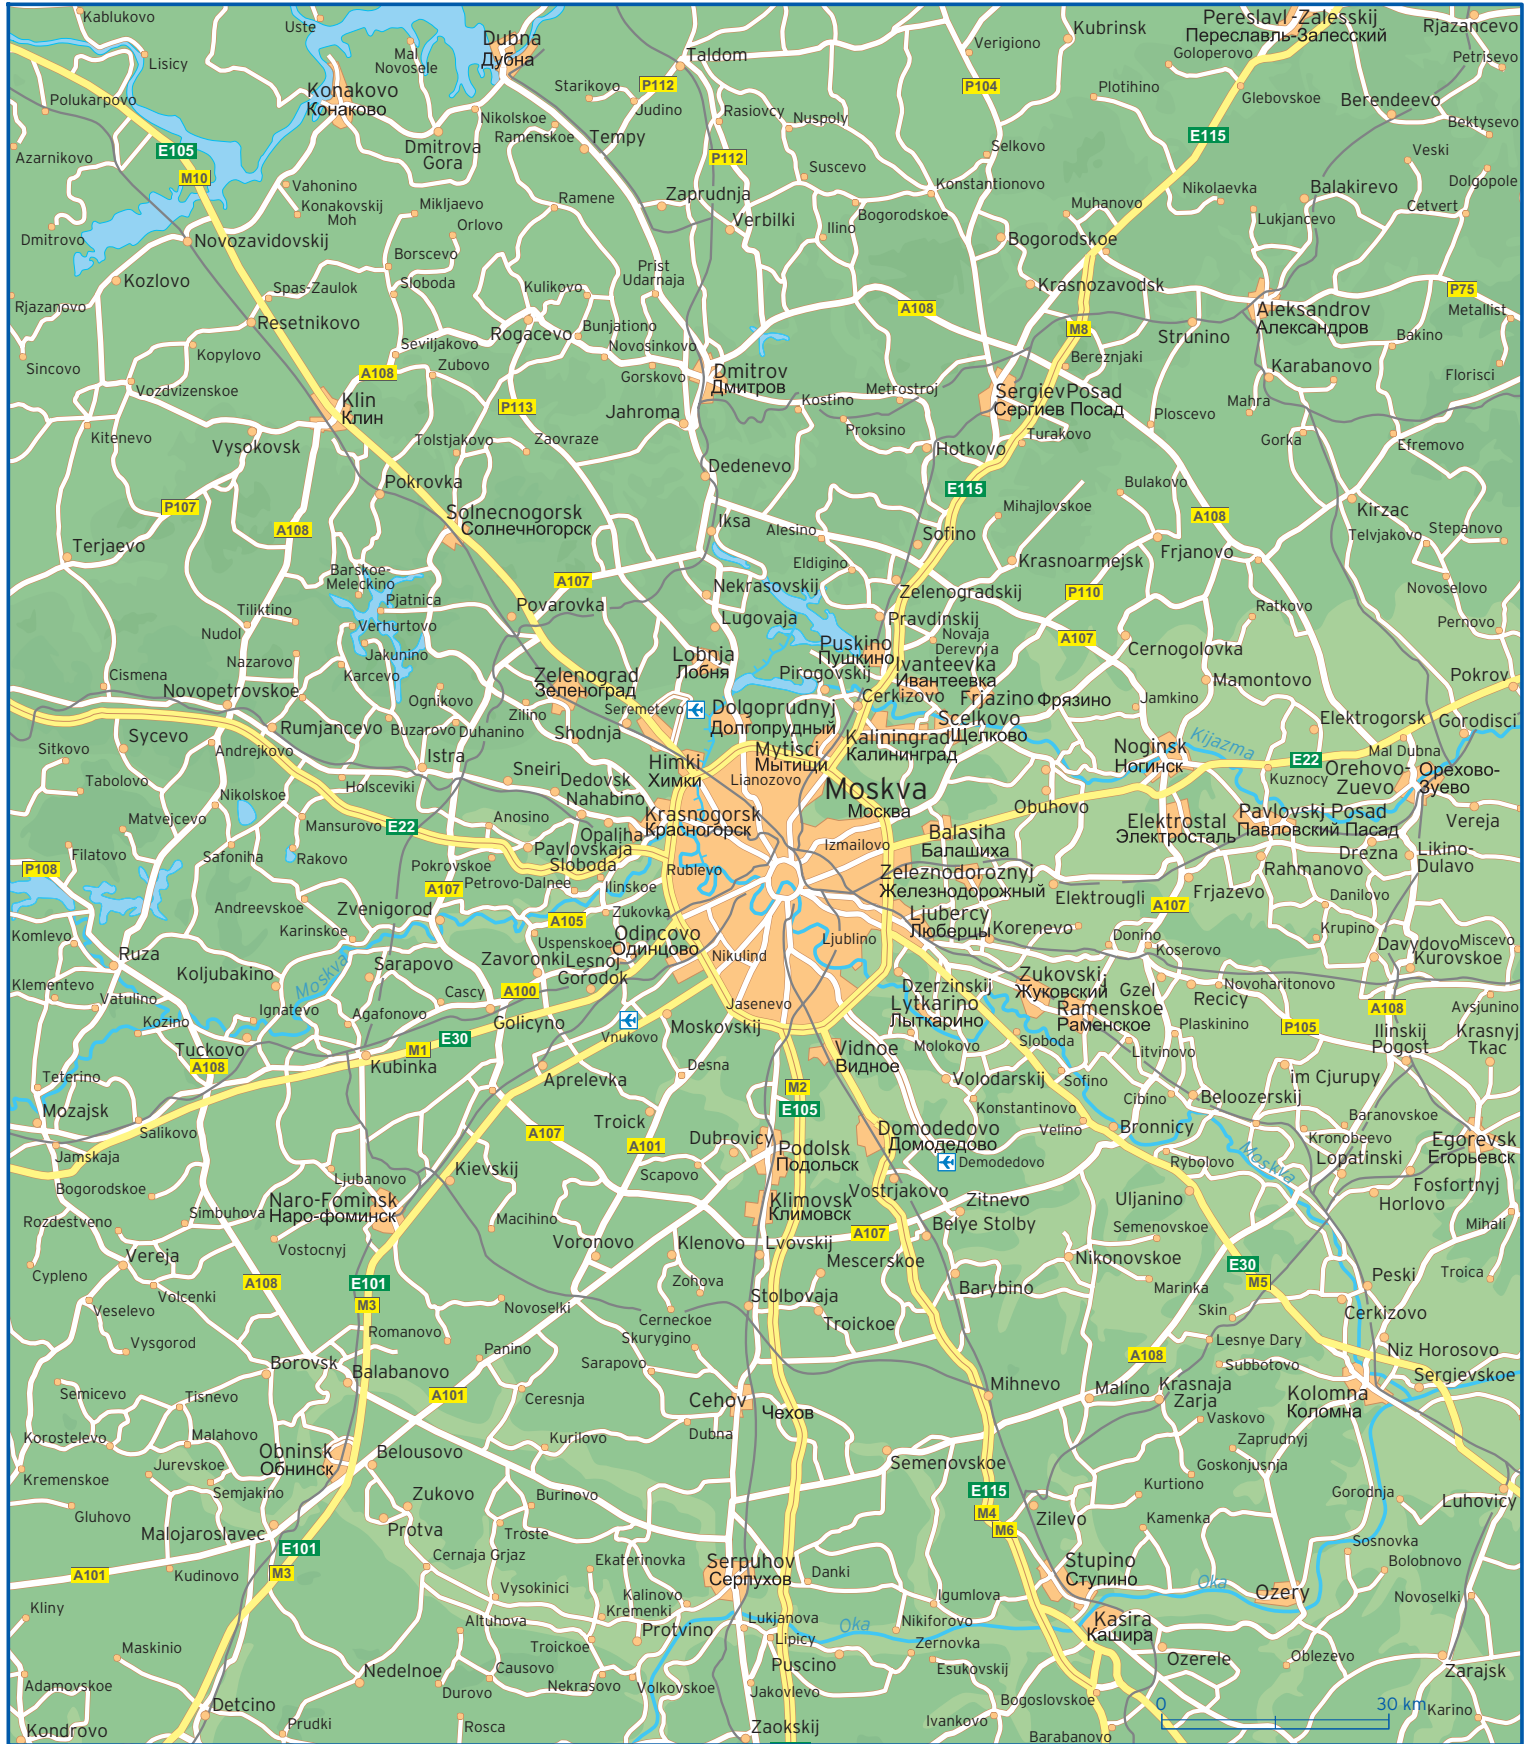

The Village (www.the-village.ru): current news, new openings and events
Afisha (www.afisha.ru): cultural events in town
Time Out Moscow (<http://www.timeout.ru>)
The Moscow Times (www.themoscowtimes.com)

Emergency numbers

Emergency: 01
Police: 02
Ambulance: 03
Moscow Tourist Helpline: +7 800 220 00 02 (English)

Tourist information

<https://discover.moscow/en>

		Вознесенский пер.	A1 A2	Садовническая наб.	C4 D4
		Газетный пер.	A2 B2	Садовническая ул.	C3 D3 D4
		Ивановская пл.	B3	Садовнический пр.	C4 D4
		Кадашевская наб.	B4 C4	Соймоновский пр.	A4
		Камергерский пер.	B1 B2	Солянский пр.	D2
		Китайгородский пр.	D3	Софийская наб.	B4 B3 C3
		Котельническая наб.	B2 C2	Старая площадь	D3
		Красная площадь	B2 C2 C3	Столешников пер.	B2
		Кремлевская наб.	B3 C3	Тверская улица	A1 B2
		Кривоколенный пер.	D1	Тверской бульвар	A1 A2
		Лаврушенский пер.	B4 C4	Театральный пр.	C2
		Леонтьевский пер.	A1 A2	ул. Балчуг	C3
		Лубянская пл.	C1 C2	Ул. Бол. Бронная	A1
		Лубянский проезд	C2 D2	ул. Большая Дмитровка	B1 B2
		Манежная площадь	B2	ул. Большая Лубянка	C1 D1
		Манежная ул.	A3 B3	ул. Большая Ордынка	C3 C4
1	C4	Кадашевский пер.	D1	ул. Варварка	C3 D3
	D1 D2	Милютенский пер.	C3 D3	ул. Воздвиженка	A2 B2
Армянский пер.	A4 B4	Москворецкая наб.	D1	ул. Волхонка	A3 A4
Берсеневская наб.	B3 B4	Мясницкая ул.	A2 B2	ул. Знаменка	A3
Бол. Каменный мост	C1	Никитский пер.	B2 C2	ул. Знаменка	C2
Бол. Кисельный пер.	A2	Никольская ул.	C2 C3	ул. Ильинка	D2
Бол. Кисловский пер.	C3	Никольский пер.	C2	ул. Маросейка	A3 B3 B2
Бол. Москворецкий мост	C2	Новая площадь	C4 D4	ул. Моховая	C1 B1 C2
Бол. Черкасский пер.	B4 C4	Овчинниковская наб.	A3 A4	ул. Неглинная	B2
Болотная наб.	B3 C3	Пречистенская наб.	C2	ул. Охотный ряд	B1 B2
Болотная пл.	A2 B2	Пушечная ул.	C4	ул. Петровка	C1 C2
Большая Никитская ул.	A3	Пятницкая ул.	C3 B3	ул. Рождественка	D2 D3
Боровицкая пл.	A1 A2	Раушская наб.		ул. Солянка
Брюсов пер.					