Jon Bilous/Shutterstock.com

The coastal barrier city of New Smyrna Beach is “Florida’s Secret Pearl” for good reason. Consistently given recognition on numerous “best surf town” lists, New Smyrna Beach was even ranked as “one of the world’s top 20 surf towns” by National Geographic Magazine. Water sports remain its most popular feature, with swimming, scuba diving, kite-surfing, and surfing at the forefront. Outdoors enthusiasts have little fear, however: you’ll discover myriad opportunities to fish, sail, motorboat, golf, hike, and more at New Smyrna Beach.

THE CITY

Jon Bilous/Shutterstock.com

Bridging the historic mainland with the “island” and its white, sandy beaches, the six-mile New Smyrna Beach (NSB) Waterfront Loop creates the heart of New Smyrna Beach. The loop views are of the Intracoastal Waterway, Indian River and Atlantic Ocean.

In Orlando Sentinel surveys, central Floridians have named New Smyrna “Florida’s Best Beach” seven years running.

New Smyrna Beach claims the distinction of being the second oldest city in Florida, though some historians believe it is even older than St. Augustine. Over 30 historical legends, artifacts and local site stand as a testament to New Smyrna Beach’s rich history.

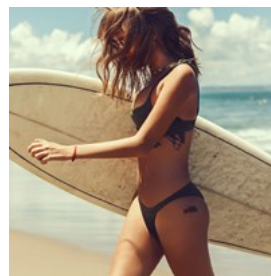

DO & SEE

Mandy Lynn/Shutterstock.com

While the Beaches are a main attraction in New Smyrna Beach, there are other water attractions and historical sights to enjoy to take in all of this attractive town.

Beaches and Surfing

The main event in New Smyrna Beach is the 13 miles of white sandy beaches. Most visitors choose sunbathing, swimming, bicycling, strolling or surfing some of the finest wave action on the East Coast.

Eldora State House

In 1877, the small community of Eldora was established on the southern inland waterway. While the exact population of early Eldora is unknown, deeds and tax records indicate there were 50 to 75 people. The agricultural community thrived until the late 1880s and 1890s when freezes destroyed the citrus crops. Today, two buildings remain: the Eldora "State" House and a post office/citrus packinghouse.

Best Time to Visit

The best time to visit New Smyrna Beach for pleasant weather is during the end of spring, the months of May and June, and in the beginning of fall, in September and October; during these months the temperatures are around 28°-29° C.

In New Smyrna Beach there are a lot of music festivals, the main ones are: Downtown Music Festival, an event with music all day long and live music performances along the streets of the city; New Smyrna Beach Blues Festival, a four day celebration of the genre; and New Smyrna Beach Jazz Festival, one of Central Florida's premier music events, with great jazz, good food and lots of fun.

Airport

The city is within close driving distance of two major international airports: Daytona International Airport (DAB), a 25 minute drive

Orlando International Airport (MCO), a 1 hour drive

There are two private airports that service New

Smyrna Beach;
New Smyrna Beach Municipal Airport
Massey Ranch Air Park.

Transportation from the airport to Smyrna Beach should not be a problem. Cabs are available just outside of the airport and buses from Votran service the region regularly.
