MIGUEL HERNÁNDEZ POET

Orihuela Turística

Miguel Hernández Gilabert was born in Orihuela in October 1910. He studied in the Ave María schools attached to Santo Domingo College and in the college itself until he abandoned his studies to work with his father.

The first of his many poems was published in 1930. He later voluntarily enlisted in the Republican militia, and was later sentenced to 30 years in prison for revolutionary activity. His works are beloved by locals and visitors alike.

Miguel Henandez House Museum

This early 20th-century farmhouse was home to the poet and his family between 1914 and 1934. The museum retains the typical furniture and fittings typical of the area's homes from the last century, together with photographs and momentos from the poet's life.

San Isidro Murals

In May 1975, a "cultural spring" bloomed in the plazas and streets of Orihuela, particularly in Barrio San Isidro, to revive the life and work of the poet.

More than a hundred painters took part in this collaborative project, telling their stories on 43 walls, including some who were there in 1976 (Pepe Azorín, Nicasio Cañaveras and Joan Castejon).

The result can be viewed in the streets of Camino Viejo de Oriolet, Chopo, Acacia, Tomillo, San Isidro Labrador, Sauce, Algarrobo and Almendro; here you will find an open air gallery and museum, decorated with 53 murals of many colours and the green and ochre of the Sierra de Orihuela. You are invited to take this cultural and artistic journey through Barrio San Isidro, retracing the footsteps of the poet Miguel Hernández.

THE FESTIVAL OF THE RECONQUEST OF MOORS AND CHRISTIANS

The celebration of the Reconquest of Orihuela has a secular tradition, which has been documented for more than 600 years, and it is for this reason that the Moors and Christians Festival in its present form, founded in 1974, revolves around this event and this celebration so that they have become inextricably linked. The main day of the Festival is the 17th July, the day of Saints Justa and Rufina, to whose intervention in the exploits of la Armengola is attributed in popular tradition the definitive conquest of the Muslim fortress that dominated the city.

The Moors and Christians Festival is engraved on the soul of Orihuela. The month of July has become the most special month of the year. A month to promote Orihuela's culture, traditions and symbols.

PARISH CHURCH OF SAINTS JUSTA AND RUFINA

Built on the remains of one of the Islamic city's mosques. It is dedicated to the city's patron saints, since the date of their martyrdom coincides with the "Reconquista" of the city, which traditionally is believed to have taken place on 17th July 1243.

Single nave gothic temple, with side chapels between the buttresses, dating back to the 14th and 15th Centuries. The presbytery is in Renaissance style, as is the side doorway, known as the Anunciación. Parallel to the nave is the Communion Chapel, of Baroque style. The main facade includes the Gradas doorway, also Baroque, the work of Antonio Villanueva and Cristóbal Sánchez, in the borrominesca style.

Special mention must be made of the bell tower, of Gothic style and remarkably slender, which must have been completed in the mid-15th Century. In the corners, there are gargoyle-shaped drains and sculpture of mythical beasts. Also of interest is the clock, which was commissioned by the town council in 1439.

SAN JUAN DE DIOS LOCAL ARCHAEOLOGICAL MUSEUM

The Orihuela Archaeology Museum is successor to the old Santo Domingo Museum of Antiquities, founded in 1902 by the Jesuit priest, Julio Furgús who donated a number of pieces. It was created by the Orihuela Town Council (thanks to the authorisation of the Ministry of Education and Culture, on 16th February 1970) and was housed at various times, in the "Palacio de Teodomiro", at the Municipal Hospital, at the Rubalcaba Palace and since 1997, at its present site, the Church of San Juan de Dios, itself built in the mid-18th Century.

The Archaeological Museum houses materials spanning a lengthy period, from the Paleolithic to the early 19th Century. The majority is from the town and its surroundings and were discovered at excavations and prospectings by the Museum itself.

The same building is also home to the Exhibition Hall, which is the former hospital's Men's ward, a spacious rectangular room, covered with barrel vaulting. This is where temporary exhibitions and diverse cultural acts are held.

OUR LADY OF MONSERRATE SANCTUARY

According to tradition, it was built over the former gothic Parish of Saint Julian, after unearthing the image of the Virgin Mary once the city had been recaptured from its Moorish occupiers.

It is a Baroque temple in the shape of the Latin Cross with a Neoclassic facade featuring the anagram of Our Lady of Monserrate.

The interior features the Hallazgo chaoel, which houses a cave, the site on which the image of the Virgin Mary appeared and above her, the old niche, today dedicated to the Cristo de la Buena Muerte. The high altar houses the niche with the Virgin of Monserrate, the city Patron Saint.

SAN ISIDRO MURALS 1976

In May 1976, a great wave arrived in Orihuela, coming from many parts of the world this was the tribute to Miguel Hernández. An actual

"cultural spring" bloomed in the plazas and streets of the city, particularly in Barrio San Isidro, reviving the life and the work of the poet. To that historic birthplace came painters, writers and musicians, set in the context of difficult times and uncertain transition, reclaiming the freedom that had been absent from lives.

It was an event that still remains recorded in collective memory, not only of the passionate Hernández devotees, but of everyone who defended democratic freedom. In that time of hope, doubt and anxiety culture elevated the spirit of the people.

More than thirty five years have passed and to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the poet's death, on the 28th March, 2012, the Culture Department of Orihuela Ayuntamiento, in collaboration with many involved in the cultural life of Orihuela, undertook the task of restoring the murals in Barrio San Isidro; once again covering the walls of the houses with murals with echoes of profound cultural and political significance.

More than a hundred painters took part in this collaborative project, telling their stories on 43 walls, including some who were there in 1976 (Pepe Azorín, Nicasio Cañaveras and Joan Castejon), people from the Barrio San Isidro, primary and secondary teachers and their pupils, a group of disabled people; a true exercise in citizen participation.

The project involved people working together with paintbrushes and rollers to essentially recreate the life and work of Miguel Hernández who died defending freedom and his belief in a just world.

The result can be viewed in the streets of Camino Viejo de Oriolet, Chopo, Acacia, Tomillo, San Isidro Labrador, Sauce, Algarrobo and Almendro; here you will find an open air gallery and museum, decorated with 53 murals of many colours and the green and ochre of the Sierra de Orihuela. You are invited to take this cultural and artistic journey through Barrio San Isidro, retracing the footsteps of the poet Miguel Hernández.

Sierra de Orihuela

This 9.4km long limestone mountain range overshadows the city of Orihuela. The highest point is Peña de Orihuela (634 m), and its steep cliffs have made it popular with rock climbers. On Monte St. Miguel, hikers can explore the ruins of Castillo de Orihuela, as well as take in views of the city.

GASTRONOMY

Orihuela Turística

The produce from the land and sea, cooked over a low flame, turn our grandmother's recipes into works of art and culture. Our most traditional cuisine includes dishes such as cocido con pelotas (both with meatballs), arroz de los tres pumas (rice stew with three types of pulses), rice with vegetables, with rabbit, with shellfish and lots more. Salted fish features in typical local dishes and the area is renowned for its quality sausages. We mustn't forget the local artisan sweets, where a legacy of Arabic origin is zealously guarded in the enclosed convents and will not fail to impress visitors: zamarras, pasteles de Gloria, merengues, tarta de Santa Clara almond cake...

Orihuela offers a complete and varied range of restaurants where you can enjoy these succulent dishes.

CASA CORRO RESTAURANT

Casa Corro, a family business with more than 100 years of experience at the stroke of a traditional pot and stew.

The restaurant has recited countless awards and mentions such as the recognition in the XII Congress "The Best of Gastronomy", as 2 of the 5 best Cooks of Spain in traditional cuisine.

CHIRINGUITO CALA MOSCA

In keeping with the needs of the environment, the company has focused much of its policy on sustainability and environmental conservation. And there is a very marked communion between Chiringuitos del Sol and Oriolan beaches, where our company has been developing a great commitment to the maintenance of this magnificent coastline. Proof of this has been the national prize "Chiringuito por el clima 2015" or the achievement of the "Chiringuito responsable" seal in 2013. Amos awards were granted by the Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Environment and the Biodiversity Foundation.

Recognitions that do not stop being just another example in the set of actions that the company has been carrying out all these years. It was the first company in its sector certified by the distinctive ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 as excellent in terms of the environment. The first of these stamps confirms good practices in continuous quality management, while the second reflects the balance between maintaining profitability and reducing the impact on the environment.

In the same way we periodically develop awareness-raising events in the maintenance and conservation of the coast of the Oriolan coast. During 2016, together with Frigo and the City Council of Orihuela, we developed the action "The Beach is in your hands", through which we will distribute advisors of clean beaches throughout the coast of Orihuela.

CHIRINGUITO CALA BOSQUE

In keeping with the needs of the environment, the company has focused much of its policy on sustainability and environmental conservation. And there is a very marked communion between Chiringuitos del Sol and Oriolan beaches, where our company has been developing a great commitment to the maintenance of this magnificent coastline. Proof of this has been the national prize "Chiringuito por el clima 2015" or the achievement of the "Chiringuito responsable" seal in 2013. Amos awards were granted by the Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Environment and the Biodiversity Foundation.

Recognitions that do not stop being just another example in the set of actions that the company has been carrying out all these years. It was the first company in its sector certified by the distinctive ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 as excellent in terms of the environment. The first of these stamps confirms good practices in continuous quality management, while the second reflects the balance between maintaining profitability and reducing the impact on the environment.

In the same way we periodically develop awareness-raising events in the maintenance and conservation of the coast of the Oriolan coast. During 2016, together with Frigo and the City Council of Orihuela, we developed the action "The Beach is in your hands", through which we will distribute advisors of clean beaches throughout the coast of Orihuela.
