DO & SEE

Visit Visegrad

The town with a landscape of streams dividing forests and hills, where traces of empires and nations: Romans, Quadi, Avars, Magyars, Turks and Germans are discovered even today.

The town whose proud ruins are aglare with the spirits of Béla IV, Charles Robert, Louis the Great, Sigismund of Luxemburg, and Matthias Corvinus. The town where the trees of the forest and the waves of ancient Danube commemorate Klára Zách, Helene Kottanner, Artúr Görgey, and other heroes of history. The town that inspired the poetry of Károly Kisfaludy, Sándor Petőfi, János Arany and Lajos Áprily. The town: Visegrád.

Castle

Built in the 1250s, the Castle was outstanding among the Hungarian castles of the age in size, power and luxury. First serving as a provisory royal residence, in 1335 it hosted the royal meeting of the three kings and also homed the Hungarian coronation jewels. Although the fortress had been rebuilt and fortified between the 13th and 15th centuries, due to the damages caused by the Ottoman Invasion it turned into ruins, and by the 18th century had lost its military importance.

The Royal Palace-Hungarian National King Matthias Museum

Already Charles Robert had a royal town house and other buildings built in the town of Visegrád around 1320. These buildings were later developed into a splendid palace in the second half of the 14th century under his son, Louis the Great and then Sigismund of Luxemburg. The excavated ruins of the Royal Palace tell us about its Gothic and Renaissance past. The terraced building complex consisted of three main parts: the northern Matthias Palace, the Royal Chapel and the Palace of Beatrix. The royal palace remained the official seat of the Hungarian kings from the 1330's until 1408 and for a while it served as a county residence even later (until the Turkish occupation in 1544).

Salamon Tower

The monumental residential tower, unique in Central Europe, in the lower castle of the fortification system built by Béla IV, gained its name by mistake referring to King Salamon's imprisonment in Visegrád nearly 200 years before the tower's construction. The tower castle was used for centuries as a checkpoint on the road from Buda to Esztergom.

Archdeaconry Church

The church was the seat of the archdeaconry till 1226. Its importance is proved by the fact that its murals were painted by the masters of the royal workshop, the architectural elements were artistically elaborated, and the cemetery with 221 graves, excavated around it, shows that illustrious churchmen and persons were buried here. In the so-called Várkert (castle garden) valley, at the foot of Sibrik Hill, archaeologists discovered the traces of a village serving the bailiff castle and the archdeaconry seat. Houses with stone ovens, dug in the ground, outhouses and relics of several crafts were found during the excavations.

Laser tag

Unlike paintball, laser tag does not cause any injuries, but it gives the same level of excitement. It is a great adventure with your friends. Laser tag is not a battle, but a tactical game, during which players are invited to test their body and mind as well. The spacious field equipped with obstacles, screens and field objects is located in the basement of the Palace house. Participants of company team buildings and groups of friends often choose this programme, since it is not only entertaining and pleasantly tiring, but establishes close ties between the players as well. It is not surprising given that they have to cover each other's back. Laser tag does not cause injuries; it has no harmful effects on human health (gate-openers operate on the same principle); Perfect programme for company team buildings and friends; Available for 2 persons as well.

Airport

Budapest's airport, Liszt Ferenc International Airport, lies 16 km south-east of the city. The airport minibus service is very convenient and has a fixed price for transport into the city. The cheapest way is to take bus 200 E from the airport to the Kőbánya-Kispest underground railway station, which takes approx. 20 minutes. You can purchase a metro ticket there and travel in to the city centre for a small amount, though it will take another 20 minutes or so.
